

CLAY JACKSON

photography

I took an early interest in photography. At age eight, inspired by a television program about photography and film processing, I used a marker to color the bathroom light bulb red, pulled the film out of the canister and ran it under the faucet. Undaunted by my initial failure, I built a real darkroom a few years later with the help of my father; that was the real beginning of my growth as a photographer and as a witness to the human record.

ABOUT MY WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY

I have photographed weddings for more than twenty years and what I hear from my clients is that the wedding pictures are much more candid and intimate than merely a series of stiffly-posed line-up shots of relatives and the bridal party.

The photojournalistic approach I bring to wedding photography allows me to capture not only the sequence of the day's events, but also the spirit and atmosphere of your wedding.

When photographing weddings, I use Nikon digital cameras cameras . All images of your wedding day will be shot in color.

If you prefer black-and-white images for some or all of your wedding photography, please indicate that to me and we can discuss the various options available to you so that you get the kinds of wedding pictures you want.

Travel

I consider it an honor to be asked to travel to your wedding destination. When photographing a wedding outside of Central Kentucky, I charge only for lodging, and transportation—never for “lost” time the day before and after a wedding. Just call or e-mail me for a quote based on lodging, airfare and/or rental car.

TIPS

Prepare a list of photos so that the photographer will be prepared and mark off the list during the day of the wedding. Also include the names of the wedding party.

A timeline and for the photographer during the seven hours of service.

If there is a sit down meal during the reception. Let me know ahead of time if the meal is offered to the photographer and assistant.
